Excerpt: . . . areas, projects located in the sample Primary Sampling Units³ in HSS are selected with certainty. Prior to sample selection all permit projects having the same sampling rate are grouped together, and within each group the projects are sorted by type of construction and within type of construction the projects are arranged by permit value in The place weight is the reciprocal of the probability of selecting a permit-issuing place in the HSS. Since places are selected from sample PSUs, the place weight includes the reciprocal of the PSU sampling rate. Primary Sampling Unit (PSU) is a county or a group of counties. FARM NONRESIDENTIAL CONSTRUCTION Value-in-place estimates for new farm nonresidential construction are extrapolated from the annual U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) report.
