Excerpt from Speech of Sir Charles Wetherell, at the Bar of the House of Lords: Against the Iniquitous Corporation Bill, on Thursday, 30th, and Friday, 31st July, 1835 Not with reference to the select body only, but with reference to the valuable privileges of the common burgesses, whom he felt himself bound in duty to take under his immediate protection. They solicited that their case should be taken out of the bill; the corporation was irreproachable, and it was universally acknowledged that Bristol was the second or third city of Great Britain. Now, London was left out, and he considered that Bristol had grounds equally strong for claiming its exclusion from the operation of this measure. In order that the case of Bristol might be separately considered, and fairly and reasonably dealt with, he had had instructions to support this petition, and was ready so to do; but after this he understood it was their lordships wish that the arguments against the principle and chief details of the bill should be consolidated, and that some two counsel...
